Stinson Awarded First Prize and Trophy Cup

DETROIT, July 12. (A)-Riding alsahing wind, rain and hallstorm the thirteen planes of the National Air Tour landed safely at the Ford air-port here late today, completing a good-will voyage which took them to wenty-five cities in fifteen States, with a total distance of 4169 miles covered during the trip.

with a total distance of 4169 miles covered during the trip.
Edie Stinson, piloting a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, was announced winner of the first prize of 2500 and the Edsel Ford trophy, following a check-up of the points made during the long flight. Stinson maintained a comfortable lead throughout the trip. A slight secident at Grand Rapids this afternoon threatened to throw him into second place but he made temporary repairs and flew through the severe storm to win first prize.
Randolph G. Page in a Hamilton monoplane placed second, closely followed by Harvey C. Mummert in a Mercury.

Several thousand people gathered at the airport to witness the close of the tour waited with apprehension when the heavy storm clouds rolled out of the northwest, directly in the course of the approaching fiyers. Each plane, tossed in the heavy winds, maneuvered carefully for a landing. There were no accidents, although the Stinson plane skided dangerously on one wing as it struck the landing field.

Following the close of the tour Henry Ford and Edeel Ford, the latter sponsor of the flight and donor of the trophy, made an inspection of all the planes.

"The fact that these planes weathered the severe storm and made the long good-will voyage without serious accident shows the increasing reliability of the modern airplane," Henry Ford stated. "It is also clear testimony of the reliability of the pilots who directed the planes over the course."

when he issued a proclamation ordering a 121,000 emergency fund be placed in the use of the State Highway Engineer.

Recent moves had been made for the calling of the Legislature in special session to provide financial sid for highway reconstruction. The Governor's proclamation declared the existence of an emergency demand for reconstruction work, and ordered a State er ergency fund to be so used. No provision was made in the order for continuing work on the new Apache Trail, construction of which had beer started to replace the old trail. A seven-mile section of the latter was submerged recently under rising waters of the Horse Mesa dam project.

Arizona Wool Growers Urged to Wipe Out Sheep "Sneaks"

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) July 12. (P)-FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) July 12. (P)—
Warfare against sheep and wool rustiers, the "sneaks" who in the days of modern methods and fast transportation means use trucks in their pernicious pursuits, was urged by President A. A. Johns upon the Arizona Wool Growers at their annual convention today.

Sheep and wool rustiers, together with other predatory animals, Johns said, constitute one of the great evils of the industry. He also urged more stringent legislation to allow for wiping out the menace and losses.

A protest against the importation of Mexican labor and the putting of such immigration upon a quota basis were subjects of discussion, by the members.

CHICAGO, July 12. (Exclusive)—
Orland L. Blake, self-styled martyr of the Anti-Alimony Club, today won a victory before Superior Judge Lewis in his alimony fight with his wife, Mrs. Catherine M. Blake, who is suing him for separate maintenance. The court sustained his plea to remain out of jail and be relieved of paying alimony until he can establish an income.

"Our petition," said his attorney, Irving Eisenman, "is that the courts should not encourage gold-digging. This couple lived together only twenty-one months. They have no children. And Mrs. Blake's petition sets up that she is a better business person than he is, increasing his earnings during their brief marriage from 2500 to $20,000 a year. Besides, he has two children of a former marriage to support.

The flip-flopping goes on apace. Desertions from the Sharkey banners to the that he undergo a rigorous course of training at Wheeler's Hot Springs to quiet his nerves. A suggestion like that to Dempsey eight years ago would have brought a laugh.

And don't forget that no exheavyweight champion has ever regained his title. Take it right down the line from the termination of the bare knuckle days. John L. Sullivan never tried it after he lost to Jim Corbett. Corbett tried it and was knocked out. So did Bob Fitzsimmons, who suffered the same fate. Also Jim Jeffries. Dempsey lost his title last September. If there is precedent in the fate of other heavyweight champions who have tried to come back, Dempsey stands to lose by a knockout at the hands of Sharkey. This may never happen; but it affords material for interesting conjecture, nevertheless. Asharkey banners to the Dempaey standards. Mostly because the Manassa Mauler is ticking his aparring partners all over the pince. Even our old friend Eddice Frayne has been carried away by the bombardment and is favoring Dempsey, whereas, a week ago he was prepared to write the ex-champ's epitaph at the hands of Sharkey. However, I stack with Gentieman Gene Tunney when it comes to being impressed by the Dempsey tactics against his aparring partners. For example, Chief Metoquah was murdered by the Dempsey flats a day or so ago and much was made of it in the public prints, Just why I don't know, A year or more ago Metoquah was knocked flatter than a pancake in one round at the Olympic. The gent's name? I don't even reimember. He wasn't a Dempsey, and had no reputation.

The foregoing sounds proSharkey, but on the contrary it is simply my guess that the boys are being carried away by the Dempsey viciousness just as they were in the days when Dempsey was a real champion. Don't forget that Dempsey won the title from hig Jess Willard eight years ago. Dempsey is no younger and certainly no ruggeder. The life he leads between fights dosn't toughen him. Don't forget that Tom Jones suggested ann 3s, with perfect putting and approaches.

In the stellar exhibition of the morning Larry Nabholtz went like an airplane through twelve holes and then struck trouble at the thirteenth. Its life the struck trouble at the thirteenth was the talk of the form here tonight. He did an eagle 3 with a 275-yard drive and a low 250-yard brassle, which laid the ball pass the yawning bunker seven feet from the pin, for a rousing cheered putt. Larry's out score was 35 and the first twelve holes looked like world-beaters. Toward the world-beaters. Toward the world-beaters. Toward the world-beaters toward the peck of trouble with the cunning same traps, and drove three balls from the dog-leg seventeenth road tee for a hospital bill of eight strokes. room the ranks of the players representing the southern end of the State will come the future greats.

The outstanding individuals of the eastern tournaments so far have been Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Beil from Texas, and Cranston Holman, Ben Gorchakoff, Johnny Doeg, Alan Herrington, Norval Craig, Lionel Ogden and Dolf Mculheisen from California. Of these, every one but the first named is from the southern part of the State and without question the next two or three years will see ahif a dozen of these boys up in the first ten players of the country.

California this year will be represented by the greatest number of stars in its history although perhaps, because of their youth, they will not have the outstanding individuals among them. In addition to those named above there will be Bill Johnston and Gerald Stratford of San Francisco, Jim Davies of Hollywood, Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, and among the fair sex Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Marion Williams and Louise MacFarland of Pasadens, Midge Gladman of Santa Monica and Josephine Crookshank of Santa Anna. Now when they come to lengthen the distance how are they going to do it without changing the stands? You and I have been around baseball too long to know that they are not going to spend a lot of money to take in more property and rebuild the stands. So, the only way they could do would be to put markers, and then the trouble would start. Wouldn't it give us all a laugh to see the umpires start out with a tape measure each time a ball was socked in the stands?

Since I was a kid we figured that a ball hit out of the lot was a homer. There's a tradition about that and I don't believe any mathematician or engineer could get the notion out of a fan's head. The only thing left is for the pitchers to keep the batters from catching one on the nose. No matter how far the stands are, or how near, the batter has got to hit

Diplomat Goes Through Nation

WASHINGTON, July 12. (P)—While some diplomats were wondering where pleasant vacations might be spent, Ambassador Pueyrredon of Argentina has been touring 10,000 miles of the United States to study the nation and its people. He has just returned to his post, with Senora de Pueyrredon, their son and two daughters, after fifty-seven days of automobile travel.

From coast to coast Mr. Pueyrredon took to roads filled with touring Americans. He talked with university professors, farmers, business men, laborers and State officials.

"My previous admiration for your country," he says, "was tremendously increased by this opportunity to appreciate the energy and effort which has made it."

The Argentine Ambassador is preparing a report of his travels to send to his government, embodying several "lessons" which he believes are to be learned by Argentina. Among these are the desirability of utilizing waterfalls for irrigation and electric power; the economic function of grain and cereal elevators inland; and the efficacy of dry farming.

Demands of business for an overnight air mail between New York and Chicago resulted in such a service July I, 1925. This section has been the most successful of all lines in point of revenue, it having reached the point of paying its own way. Passage by Congress of a law permitting the Postmaster-General to contract with private aviation enterprises for carrying air mail resulted in establishment of a number of routes to connect with this night service and with the transcontinental line. Additional contracts will be let within the next few months.

The next great development is expected to be overseas air mail. As soon as transoceanic aviation is begin to contract for carrying the mails, although some legislation will be necessary before that to make such contracts possible.

Among these are the desirability of utilisting waterfalls for irrigation and electric power; the economic function of grain and cereal elevators inland; and the efficacy of dry farming.

"I observed the influences of these developments in Illinois, Montana, Colorado, Arizona and elsewhere," he says.

During the tour Dr. Pueyrredon was the guest of vice-president Dawes, at dinner, and was awarded an honorary degree by the University of Southern was of very good quality. Receipts at most eastern terminals, although only moderate, were more than sufficient for the requirements.

Western slitalfs markets were about steady. At Los Angeles the demand was fairly active and sufficient to absorb the moderately heavy receipts. The slitalfs recepits were greater than for the grain hay. At San Francisco trade was brisk with an active demand because of the poor grain hay crops. Heavier receipts of second outsing affalfs at Sacramento caused slight declines in prices. Quotations of third-outsing affalf at this point at $16 to $17 were about $3 above the quotations for second-outsing. Unusually good pastures caused an easter market in the Yakima Valley. The second alfalfs crop in New Mexico was only about half of normal but the quality is reported to be above normal. The usual seasonal movement of slifalfs is reported from Houston, Tex., with some of this hay going into storage.

Bank to Merge Two of Units at Inglewood

Effective at the close of business Saturday, the Market street branch in Inglewood of the Pacific-South-west Trust and Savings Bank will be merged with the first branch on the corner of Queen and Commer-cial street, the mai noffice announced yesterday.

Officers and staffs of the two banks will be consolidated and will operate under the direction and management of W G. Brown, Inglewood, vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest

For the second time this year flotations of new capital issues have declined sharply.

In response to the strong investment demand early in February offerings rose to record proportions and then suddenly declined, to advance again in May and in June. The June offerings were arranged in anticipation of July reinvestment demand. The giut in the bond market, however, curtailed financing toward the and of the month and the volume fell to the lowest level of the year.

An Investment Trust is a corporation, trust, or similar form of organization, which raises capital through the issuance of stocks and debentures and invests and reinvests its funds in a wide variety of securities. Its purpose is to offer the investor sound security, with a higher return than is ordinarily available to him as an individual. Security of principal is attained through diversification while capable direction in the investing and reinvesting of funds makes possible the realization of capital gains and the avoidance of capital

How well the properly managed these aims is demonstrated by the successful record of investment trusts in Great Britain for over fifty years. The shares of leading British trusts today sell to yield within approximately ½ of 1% of British government bonds, while current dividends of fortyfour representative trusts average

One of Earliest Group Operating Systems

The oldest property in the Associated System had its beginning in 1852 when the Ithaca (New York) Gas Light Company was formed. Later, in the 80's, the use of electricity became practicable. Several of the first electric light and power plants established in America have for many years been Associated properties.

Associated Gas and Electric Company

the principal unit of the system, incorporated in 1906, is one of the oldest group operating and supervising organizations in the country.

Long Experience of Executives

The management of the Associated System is in the hands of executives, many of whom began in the pioneer days and grew up with the industry, acquiring extensive experience as employees or consultants of public utilities throughout the United States.

To advise on financial policies the management has associated with it bankers of the highest standing with international reputation who from the beginning of their banking activities have been especially interested in public utility securities.

Also associated with the management as directors and trustees of the various corporations and voluntary associations directly controlling the operating properties, are commercial bankers and individuals whose advice and counsel are invaluable because of their wide business experience in other fields.

Alm to Extend Benefits of Public Utility Service

The personnel of the management is primarily interested in extending and increasing the uses and benefits of public utility service. The reinvestment of a large portion of the proceeds from operations together with the profitable employment of additional capital from customers and others makes possible the realization Balvatore Cortest, a tall, dignified gentleman, unusually handsome, even for a newspaper man, is the Associated Press correspondent in Borne—has been for many years. This "journalistic d'Artagnan" has perpetrated a book of recollections, "My Thirty Years of Friendships." in which he gives some very human glimpses of J. Pierpont Morgan, the elder, with whom he was for many years on intimate terms of friendship—the only working newspaper man, it is said, who ever achieved that bonor. There is the story of the banker who hated to be cheated hasgling with a Roman shopkeeper over the price of a coral necklace that had taken Mr. Morgan's fancy, but which, after much bargaining he refused to buy because he insisted the shopkeeper was asking $10 more than he was entitled to. "On that occasion," says Cortesi, who was with him at the time. "I said to him jokingly:

will be in the Mandarin dialect, which is generally understood throughout Northern China and Manchuris. The government will require that all individuals or communities having receiving sets shall pay a license fee of $1, which will help defray the cost of operation.
In many of the poorer villages, where the license fee would be an impossible hardship on many individuals, we plan to install community receivers, with loud speakers, so that every one may gather before it in the evening for entertainments and Angeles Aqueduct dynamitings until the 20th Inst., was announced yesterdag, by Dist.-Atty. Hession of Inyo county.

His reason for delaying the action which was to have started yesterday, he explained, was because of the inability of witnesses to be present. Many of those who were to have appeared before the grand Jury have been called to testify in the case of Maj. C. Parcy Watson, Owens Valley rancher, at Martinez, Contra Costa county.

Watson is being tried on a charge of illegal possession of dynamite. disappearance to Capt. Davidson, nead of the Sheriff's missing persons detail.

A Previous report that the insurance man had disappeared was made on June 28. Later the report was received that the man was found wandering in the streets of Glendale in a dazed condition. It was stated that considerable jewelry and some money he had when he left home was gone.

One of Mr. Whitfield's sons was sleeping in the same room when, on the 5th inst. the elder man slipped out of the room and again disappeared. He has gray hair, a sear above his mouth on the left side and a growth on the left hand.

These conferences, it also was learned, are expected to be preliminary to a general conference at which all branches of the industry will be represented, the salaried branches by the principal members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Outstanding members of the academy took the matter up quietly at a meeting Monday night in the academy offices in the Mauser Building, Hollywood. The meeting lasted for three hours and, while no details were made public, it was understood that there was a general agreement that economies are necessary for the continued prosperity of the film business.

Junior Branch of W.C.T.U. to Meet at Beach

Meet at Beach California can take the lead over every other State in the Union in the development of civil aviation if its people will arouse themselves to the flying possibilities of this section of the nation, according to Edward H. Sharpe, first president of the newlyformed Falcon Flyers, an association organized here to stimulate civic interest in aviation.

Mr. Sharpe was elected president of the Falcon Flyers at the initial meeting of the founders of the association held yesterday at the Breakfast Club. R. E. Fisher, vice-president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, San Francisco, was elected vice-president; L. G. Peterson, secretary, and Supervisor Fred T. Beaty and H. Allan Sullivan of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Sans Monica, members of the executive committee.

"The purpose of the Falcon Flyers, which is a nonprofit association, are to promote the progress of civil aviation," said Mr. Sharpe; "to provide flying fields, to obtain and disseminate technical information concerning aircraft, to create and maintain public interest in aviation and to bring together persons who are interested in the development of flying.

"California can become the leading."

Beginning the 29th inst., the fif-centh annual convention of the outhern California Young People's Southern California Young People's Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Zedondo Beach will be in session for three days. The first day is to be taken up with registration, outdoor sports and a branch stunt night, and the more prious business of the gathering will follow on Saturday and Sunday.

geles Liner Calawaii by the University of California.

In an effort to obtain accurate data about the ocean's temperature for use in studying currents, the university, in co-operation with the Los Angeles Steamship Company, has installed a novel instrument termed a "thermograph" on the Calawaii. The thermograph looks much like a recording barometer, and occupies an unassuming place in the engine room of the ship, suspended on four steel springs within a wooden box. Attached to the intake pipe of the engine is a tupe of mercury inclosed in a steel pipe. The other end is attached to the thermograph. As the sea water is drawn into the intake, it flows over this mercury tube, causing the mercury to rise and fall secording to the temperature.

A strip of paper ruled for days, hours and minutes is fed automatically through the thermograph and on this the device records the temperature at all times as the shipploughs its way through the Pacific to and from Hawaii. One small chart serves to record all temperatures for the entire journey.

The device is in charge of First Assistant Engineer August Johnson of the Calawaii and both shipping men and professors are enthusiastic over the results.

Heretofore all study of ocean temperatures was made by displing up buckets of surface water and placing a thermometer therein. With the thermograph on the Calawaii, however, the temperature several feet down can be ascertained and thereby a true record unmarred by local conditions on the surface is obtained.

Encounter With "Ether Bandit"

An attack by an "ether bandit" was reported to police last night by Mrs. E. F. Williams, manager of an apartment-house at 949 Everett street. Mrs. Williams was stunned and rendered partially unconscious by a blow on the head and the application of an ether-soaked rag to her nostrils, but struggled and screamed enough to cause the intruder to fiee.

The man applied to her, she told Detective Lieutenants Glenville. Doyle and Cashuba, to rent a front apartment. She was just stepping inside the door of the apartment, she said, when he struck her on the back of the head and tried to drug her. When he fied, he left the drugged rag behind him.

Mrs. Williams is the wife of a special officer at the Edgewater Beach Club.

Two Youths Believe Lady Luck is With Them When They Get Lift to Bay City, But Change Minds When They Are Accused of Stealing Car They Rode In

Lady Luck both frowned and smiled on Richard Hedke and Jerome O'Brien when the two youths started for San Francisco early last December. Without funds the two were walking the boulevards when they received the smile from the capricious lady.

The smile in the case, they told Municipal Judge McConneil when they appeared before him yesterday for preliminary examination on a charge of grand larceny, was the offer of a lift to the Bay City by a man they knew only by the name of Davis. And the frown came after their arrival in San Francisco when Davis is said to have left them after taking the license plates from the automobile and leaving them in the boys' room.

"Then the Frisco coppers arrested us and charged us with stealing the machine because they found the li-tense plates, and when the boys sentenced them to ninety days in jail. He then suspended the sentence for two years.

One Alvin Kelly recently remained on a Newark (N J.) flagpole for twelve days and twelve hours and claimed the flagpole endurance championship. This endurance championship. This aroused the envy of Frank Holl of Boston, who set out to beat Kelly's record, but was thwarted by the police, who got out a warrant charg-ing him with being a public nuisance. So Kelly retains the championship.

Grave doubt as to the advisability and even the legality of the present proceedings are cast by a series of protests filed with the Board or Supervisors by representatives of a number of cities and others vitally con-cerned in the success of the project. These protests are backed up by engineering data from sources to command respect and the Supervisors are to be commended for their expressed determination to give these pro-tests and data careful consideration before awarding any contracts on the basis of the

The original plans for the dam as drawn up by a former flood-control district administration called for a dam 436 feet high, to create a reservoir of 240,000 acre-fee pacity and te cost $25,000,000.

It was the project as thus outlined that was experted by a series of highly competent and disinterested engineers, including Gen, George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, and a joint commission representing the Interior and Agricultural departments.

Before the plans as thus authorized by the people and approved by experts could be put into effect a political controversy inbe put into effect a political controversy in-tervened. This controversy, inspired to a considerable extent by personal animosity in certain quarters against the then flood-control engineer, centered not upon the character of the dam to be built, but upon where it should be located. Its upshot was the reapproval of the original plans as to site, but with the creation of a new flood-control aliministration and the appointment of a new set of engineers by opponents of the former regime.

As was to be expected, the new administration, going into office on a platform of opposition to the old, promptly proceeded to make drastic changes in the San Gabriel dam plans. They cut it down—on paper—from a height of 435 feet to 385 and thereby chief reason advanced for these major changes was that of economy, it being esti-mated that the lower dam of smaller ca-pacity could be built for $5,000,000 less pacity could be built for $5,000,000 less than the higher one authorized by the voters. It was their contention that the dam first contemplated would cost $30,000,000 and that the reduced specifications would lower this to $25,000,000, the amount of the bonds authorized.

This matter of cost is given considerable attention in a report just filed with the Supervisors by a supervisor by a su

Important as is this single consideration, it is a minor one compared with the significance of Mr. Safley's considered declaration that the smaller reservoir would prove inadequate for proper flood control, which is the primary purpose of the dam.

There have been years in the recent history of the San Gabriel when that river alone has done 315,000,000 worth of damage one has done $15,000,000 worth of damage in a single rainy season. In the face this recurrent menace and in consideration of the intensive development of the valley which will take place under the promise of adequate flood protection and abundant irrigation water, it is obvious that nothing short of adequacy should even be considered.

Apart from these paramount considera-tions the people are entitled to the dam they voted for and for which they have bonded themselves. It is a matter of grave doubt if anything else can legally be sub-stituted. Any effort to do so is almost cer-tain to the up the whole project in further, long delays while the issue is threshed out in the courts on the injunction proceedings the protestants are prepared to bring if nec-essary.

It should not be necessary. The dam was authorized on a distinct and clear-cut understanding as to its character and the responsible officials have no more right to substitute a smaller and less adequate dam than a merchant would have to susstitute an inferior article for one ordered and paid for. Los Angeles county is building the San Gabriel dam to serve its increasing needs for water and flood protection, not for a decade nor a generation, but for a century

The Usury Problem
LOS ANGELES, July 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Recent-tos ANGELES, July 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Recently an editorial appeared in one of the evening newspapers entitled "Usury." At any other time the net result of the appearance of this editorial would be merely to add to the stock of misinformation that is possessed by the general reader. But coming as it did when the public is aroused by the Julian Petroleum flasco and so charged with amotion that it is ready to blindly condemn and destroy, such an editorial serves merely to add fuel to the flames of prejudice.

Several recent docisions of our Supreme Court have opened very wide holes in the usury law. There is a distinction between pure interest and the exaction of moral usury. The control of pure interest is contrary to the great weight of authority and economic opinion. Moral usury, i.e., the taking advantage of the unfortunate condition and inexperience of a borrower, and extorting from him secessive interest charges, is a peraicious and evilting and can be controlled as it is being controlled in eleven other States in the Union through the means of a uniform small-loan law. In the Julian case the word "usury" is bandled about upon the front pages of the newspapers and taken up by the public with all the nativets that a child takes up a new toy. It has assumed fautastic colors and properties and is selzed upon as a magic talisman where with to cure all the evils engendered by the Julian tragedy. The public has engaged in a capital hunt that, is in no wise different from the field of credit entering the public opinion and law. This is no time to abdicate reason; to humor for public whim and well-meaning money lenders will be driven from the field of credit entering more public whim and well-meaning money lenders will be driven from the field of credit entering many and white small, borrower; honest and well-meaning money lenders will be driven from the field of credit entering the public opinion and law. motion picture it appears that the screen usually produces but one outstanding comedian a year. And if that precedent continues to hold good, every indication points to Pranklin Pangborn as the lucky young fun-maker for 1937.

Although he has been in pictures less than a year, Pangborn has already received the glad news that Cecil B. De Mille, to whom he is under contract, will elevate him to the stellar heights in the very near future. In fact, "The Indiscretions of Archie," that delightful P. O. Wodehouse tale, has been selected as Pangborn's first featured appearance, but it will be filmed under the title of "In Bad With Sinbad." Sonya Levien is now working on the screen story.

Franklin Pangborn was formerly a fact for the company travel back and forth on borseback, while the equipment, reflectors, campera, ilm and food for luncheon, also is taken by sand aled."

Franklin Pangborn was formerly a great local stage favorite, as everybody here remembers. Since joining the silent drama he has appeared successfully in "Cradis Entschere." The Night Bride." and others, and his unique brand of comedy commanded instant attention.

Before starting on his starring career, however, Pangborn will play a featured role with Marie Prevost in "The Oiri in the Pullman," which Eric Kenton is scheduled to direct.

Bed LaBocque a Yale-lite

Ever since "Brown of Harvard" made such a hit on the screen, very mother's son among the stars just hones and hankers to play a rah-rah boy or a military cadet, wear a mon-pay havoe with the feminine hearts in the bleachers.

Now it is Rod LaBocque who, if tothing goes amiss, is to offest that Harvard stuff by playing in his next De Mills picture the role of a college boy alama-matered by her ancient rival, Yale University.

A goodly part of the picture will be taken in the East, according to present plans.

Boss Lederman a Director Jack L. Warner, who has probably brought more unknown directors into the motion-picture industry than any other producer, is a firm believer in the above statement and as he has elevated three men to directorial jobs in the past three months with his "Give Them a Chance" theory.

Yesterday Warner announced a fourth new director, Ross Lederman, who for the past three months with the scarting accessing the play it is believed, and for this result of the play it is believed, and for this play it is believed, and for the play, it is believed, and for the play, it is believed, and for the play it is believed, and for the play, it is

Gilbert Learns Navigation as Role Prelude

John Gilbert, just after buying a new yacht, "The Temptress," learned practical navigation by operating a rum runner sloop on the high seas in the new adventure drams, "Twelve Miles Out," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present commencing Friday at Loew's State Theater.

The story is defined as a thrilling drams of the sea, adapted from the New York stage hit of the same name, with John Gilbert playing the role of a motorcycle daredevil who becomes the nemests of a gang of runners on the high seas.

An all-star cast appears in support, including Joan Crawford as the heroine, Ernest Torrence, Bert Roach, Tom O'Brien and Eileen Percy.

The picture was directed by Jack Conway and adapted to the screen by A. P. Younger.

DIRECTOR'S "FIND" SIGNED FOR SPECIAL

Gordon Graves, juvenile, a "discovery" of George Pitzmaurice, who is giving the lad his first opportunity on the Coast, has been signed to play in "Rose of Monterey," which Pitzmaurice is directing for First National. Graves is one of the aristocratic Spanish friends of the heroine and is costumed in the pictureque garb of the period in which the story is laid. As he is of Spanish descent, he is said to fit the role perfectly.

at the Egan Theater, she intends going right through with her original intention of making this house on Figueroa street "the most artistic stock house in the country." To this end she has already placed contracts for the redecorating of the theater in the very near future.

Miss La Verne will offer on Sunday evening Ibsen's "Ghosts," which has not been done heresbouts in a long time. She has in preparation for early production a dramatization of Jack Black's widely read book. "You Can't Win," which is being put into play form by Bessie Beatty. The play title of the story has not been decided upon as yet. Another play new to Los Angeles which Miss La Verne intends doing in the near future is "Come Seven," in which George Broadhurst starred Miss La Verne in New York. In this plece the entire cast is obliged to appear in black face.

That leaves two kinds, the killers of bursales and smaller animals, which man does not have to fear. Tigers as a rule, according to Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, are straid of men. They will keep out of sight and fiee. However, when cornered, one may as well look out for a feroclous charge.

While filming "Chang," which enters its fourth and final week at the Million Dollar Theater today, these two men often had to rely upon fast gun work, as they were anxious to get pictures and the tigers failed to understand their pacific intent.

"Black Crows" Team Booked for Pantages

Montgomery Ward Company Felicitated on Opening of Los Angeles Branch

Los Angeles extended an official velcome to the management of the Montgomery Ward Company last night at the formal opening of that organ-ization's new warehouse in the Terufacturing District. More than 100 minal Building of the Central Manufacturing District. More than 100 were present at the dinner.

Mayor Cryer gave the address of welcome. Response to the official greeting was made by R. H. Glassley, Oakland, Pacific Coast manager of the company, who said his company in coming to Los Angeles has taken a great step forward.

"The mail-order business is a barometer which has never failed in determining general business conditions," Mr. Glassley said, "That barometer now points to the fact that California and Southern California especially is one of the most prosperous spots of the United States if not the world."

Frank C. Mortimer, vice-president of the Citizens' National Bank, said the Montgomery Ward organization, since its beginning in 1827 with a capital of $2000, has expanded its annual volume of business to more than $200,000,000.

Other speakers included C. J. Doherty, vice-president and general manager of the Central Manufacturing District; J. A. McNaughton, vice-president of the Los Angeles Junction Railway, and F. L. S. Harmon of the Chamber of Commerce. Officials of the company who made brief talks were J. E. Nichols, general manager of the Los Angeles district; C. W. Dunson, superintendent of merchandise, at Los Angeles.
